

Qi Windsor

Qi Windsor - Feng Shui consultants are able to help people with the layout, decoration and orientation of their residential home and commercial spaces. Consultants may even assist with interior or exterior spaces or structural applications. For example, she or he may be responsible for only the cosmetic dressing and design of an interior space. Alternatively, if a Feng Shui consultant is brought in to give advice during an initial planning phase of a particular project, she or he may offer input about the structural elements of the building or area.

Feng Shui is most usually performed within home and office places. In the past, this art was most often practiced buildings of significance such as palaces and places of worship. In the nineteen sixties Feng Shui became popular in the West. Many books have been written since then and published in English and other languages. Lots of Westerners who have studied Feng Shui have gone on to become consultants.

There are various schools that particularly offer courses in Feng Shui. To be able to become a professional Feng Shui consultant, it is vital to commit time to become fully conversant with the practice. Feng Shui is based on knowledge of qi, that is also called "chi." Qi is often defined as the flow of energy which is related to all living things. The practice even relies on polarity, the theory of yin and yang and magnetic pull. A Feng Shui consultant must also be familiar with the several symbols related to practice and understanding a great deal concerning qi.

Typically, in the West, Feng Shui is usually performed within private homes. While there are some professional spaces that are dressed or built according to the principles of Feng Shui, they are unusual. Even if the area in general has not been organized to the philosophy of Feng Shui, it is possible to incorporate elements into private work spaces. When including Feng Shui into designing and dressing a bigger space, it may be wise to talk to a Feng Shui consultant, even if it is possible to do smaller projects on one's own.

Different sites on the Net are committed to providing information about Feng Shui, its principles and its history. The information on the websites usually comprises general knowledge of Feng Shui as well as information about schools which offer courses. Some of these websites also offer contact information for those seeking a Feng Shui consultant.